Federal Forces Made No Effort to Relieve Muzquiz It Is Learned.

[By Associated Press.]
Washington, Dec. 22.—Frederick D. Hugo, the American ransomed and captured by bandits in the recent raid on Muzquiz, Mexico, and later liberated, was released under an agreement to pay $1,500 within 12 days, according to information reaching the department of state. The department announced today that instructions had been sent to the embassy in Mexico City to insist that steps to capture the bandits be taken by the Mexican government. The raiders took from Muzquiz American owned property valued at $50,000 pesos, 148 horses, and large food supplies, according to the report to the department. About 400 men made the attack. A federal force of 750 men and six machine guns, commanded by Generals Ricca and Perdomo, is less than 40 miles from Muzquiz at the time of the raid, the department's advice stated, and made no effort to relieve the town or go to it until the bandits had evacuated the place. Five trains on the railroad line between San Luis Potosi and Tampico, Mexico, are reported to have been attacked by bandits during the past few weeks. One train was blown up December 17 near Cardenas, state of San Luis Potosi, and 10 passengers and soldiers are said to have been killed, the reports to the state department said. About 28 persons are said to have been killed in a smaller incident on that line on December 6.

It Can Be Done!

That it would cost thousands of dollars to keep Rock county's main highways open in winter is the argument advanced by the postal director by some of the county board members. Mr. E. Voltz, town of Turtle's representative on the county board, explains a simple, cheap, and yet effective method of clearing roads of snow. Beloit and Clinton are both benefiting as well as farmers all along the highway. Mr. Voltz's letter follows: Town of Turtle, Dec. 16. Editor, Gazette: In regard to your letter of December 11, I would say I am in favor of keeping the main highways open in winter as far as possible. I live on the main road between Beloit and Clinton and as soon as the storm was over our local commissioner took a grader and six horses and scraped the road from Clinton to Beloit. We have a good road for all kinds of travel and have had lots of compliments on our work. Graders and men are running here every day without any trouble. If a special meeting will help fix things up, my favor of it. Truly yours, R. E. VOLTZ, Clinton, Chairman of Town of Turtle.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Refusal of operators to accept the government's strike settlement terms, it was pointed out today, might embarrass the operation of the renewed insurrection on Saturday by President Wilson and authorized to investigate miners' wages and working conditions and increase coal prices if necessary. Further efforts probably will be made today to induce the operators to accede to the government's proposal, despite the renewed insurrection of the operators' executive committee that neither had they accepted nor had they indicated they would accept the terms. The operators had agreed to the proposal they had agreed to was the one advanced by former Fuel Administrator Garfield. The question of whether the operators would accede to the government's proposal was the one advanced by former Fuel Administrator Garfield.

DO NOT SEAT HIM.

Socialists of the fifth congressional district have done their part in returning Victor Berger, bell-wether of the flock, to the house of representatives. It is again up to the true Americans of that branch of the national legislature to see that he is not seated.

The duty of the elections committee of the lower house of congress is plain. Berger has been convicted of disloyalty to the United States. He has been given a full and fair trial. He has been sentenced to serve a term in prison for his unpatriotic activities during the war. He is secure for the time being under the legal process resorted to by him. He has made an appeal to the United States supreme court. The fact that he is not in prison does not place him in an advantageous position in the eyes of the majority of the people of this nation. Because the element in the fifth district that elected him, predominantly, is no reason that the remainder of the country should be subjected to the humiliation of having an avowed political obstructionist seated in the national law-making house.

Berger will come back as often as he is defeated. He has been a politician all his life. He shows strength in his district. That is why he resides in the fifth. If some other district could poll more socialist votes, Berger would be a legal resident of that district. That is his game. He is a smooth politician. He is ever looking out for Victor's political welfare.

No other district in the United States, except the fifth, could put over the job it did. It is the hotbed of socialism. Those opponents of socialism who did not get out and vote in the recent election have not done their duty.

The elections committee can do its duty by stoutly voting to keep Berger out of his seat. The majority of the people of this country are patriotic and they do not want a man in congress who does not measure up to the full standard of American patriotism.

A GOOD TIME TO DO GOOD.

Not for another year will America be blessed with such an opportunity to think right and do good as now exists. When the Christmas spirit is in the air, when the message of the Christ is first in mind, men are amenable to the sway of righteous emotions.

And if ever there has been need for a re-dedication to basic truths it is now, when in industry and politics the differences of men have been exaggerated until they seem ready to fly at each other's throats. We are in need of a substitution of unselfishness for selfishness, of national good for group interest, of patriotism for partisanship.

It is easy to admit what we ought to do, perhaps, but not so easy to do it. Yet an example is powerful, even though it originate humbly enough. And when each citizen individually, or a majority of them, attempts to practice moderation and toleration in daily life, we shall have a nationalism potent for good.

The greatest joy in the world is the man who declares that wars can never be abolished and civic evils never be controlled, because human nature is at heart bad. That man has misread the history of the human race. We are a long ways from being perfect; but we are a whole lot nearer perfection than our head-hunting ancestors. And the more we believe in our ability to grow morally and spiritually, the faster will be our growth.

The Christmas season is a good time to reconsecrate ourselves to a belief in ourselves.

NO LIQUOR PRICE TOO HIGH.

There may be complaint about the prices of groceries and meat, the cost of clothing may be lamented, and rents raise a protest, but when it comes to liquors it appears that a considerable number of people feel that they are well worth all that is asked. In instances where federal judges have opened the bars and wholesale houses, the news reports tell of transactions at figures that might be thought prohibitive, but the only difficulty appears to be in handing it out fast enough and in keeping the supply equal to the demand.

Men contest for the privilege of paying $5 to $10 a quart for whiskey, apparently proceeding on the theory that no price is too high in case it can be had. It may be that difficulty in obtaining liquor in the last few months has whetted appetites unduly and that such a condition explains the eagerness to buy exhibited when the stuff is on sale. It might seem that it would naturally follow that such prices would result in small demand, but that is not the way it works out, apparently. Men who have money for nothing else can produce a roll when there is liquor to be bought.

However, these exhibitions are not to be construed as manifestations of a reaction from the demand for prohibition. Those rushing to make such purchases in fact constitute but a small portion of the population and are they who feel most keenly the restriction placed on the liquor traffic. They realize that the day of open sales is brief and therefore must be made the most of. When the present supply is gone all is gone except for that produced by illicit manufacture.

GETTING THE VOTERS' VOTES.

Most Americans concerned about the open exercise of civic duties will "go along" with George W. Perkins in his claim that every man and woman eligible to vote should cast a ballot at all elections. An equally strong contingent of Mr. Perkins' fellow-citizens will support him in his plea that some method be devised that will sharpen the civic interest and bring voters of both sexes to the polls.

But his following may dwindle considerably in deciding that voters should be compelled to cast their ballots under penalties beginning with a nominal fee which might be graded into two levels, the second to be succeeded by some form of relatively mild punishment. Options will differ on the means of making sure a full vote of the electorate although there may be unanimity on the point of desirability.

There may be a reasonable doubt whether the man or woman whose exercise of civic interest and duty is measured by fear of a smaller, then larger fine, followed in the case of a third offense by some form of mild physical punishment, would be profitably influenced much by the penalties Mr. Perkins proposes.

If civic affairs are presented to voters in a way to touch an intelligent interest—except of course to furnish great campaign funds—of course to furnish educational light—or to rely upon the disciplinary influences of a small fine, then a heavier fine, and finally real punishment. Until voters' interest is made captive not even fines and mild punishments will materially expand the total vote.

Liquor for beverage purposes cannot be exported after January 16, next, it is announced. That is not what is worrying most. That it cannot be imported is a far sadder fact to a considerable portion of our population.

Paderewski will abandon politics and return to his music, it is announced, possibly because he has reached the conclusion that a piano is easier to manage than a government.

Roosevelt Coffee House

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

New York, Dec. 22.—New York has to thank prohibition for one blessing, and that is the establishment of a modern coffee house, where it is possible to obtain a cup of coffee that is really coffee and not tannic acid soup.

It also has to thank the Roosevelt family, whose expert business judgment, as well as its compassion for the New Yorker's outraged stomach, led it to establish this new and picturesque enterprise, known as the Roosevelt Coffee House.

Americans have always been great coffee drinkers. If you can believe statistics, we are the greatest coffee drinkers in the world. More coffee is consumed in New York every year than in any other city, which proves that New Yorkers are either lacking in taste or are marvelously good-humored, for the coffee served in even the best hotels and restaurants is worse than the ice cream sodas served in Europe. Than which there is no more odious comparison.

Served Everything but Coffee.

New York has had coffee houses before, but in recent years the popularity has been based largely on the fact that they served almost everything else but coffee. There is "Ye Old English Coffee House," an old third street, for instance, which specializes in table d'hôte dinners, with merely a demi-tasse tacked on to the end, and there is another, which houses in Greenwich Village which serves good chocolate, but the Brazilian Coffee House is the first attempt to revive the ancient custom of drinking coffee, dedicated entirely to coffee and "hot air."

The Roosevelt have made their coffee house as much like a bar as they feature is concerned. Patrons are permitted to talk long hours after their coffee, and if they want to, they can talk for hours. There is a place for writing paper for their benefit. Later on, there are to be magazines, possibly books, and table copies of the United States Constitution.

"What we desire to do," said Philip J. Roosevelt in discussing the matter, "is to provide a place for people to come where they can talk, write letters, eat sandwiches and cake, and above all, drink real coffee."

Coffee House Is Popular.

The Brazilian Coffee House is already proving enormously popular. It is on Forty-fourth street, in the center of the theatrical district, and has a large theatrical patronage, while the newspaper profession, male and female, have adopted it as their own social property. The Roosevelt family, reading "It Postum disagrees with you, try a cup of our coffee," also attracts a group of miscellaneous persons, who admit that the social quest of their leisure hours is drinkable coffee. It is amusing to see these disheartened confessions, and finally, when the coffee is finally served with a look of new hope in their eyes.

Inside, the long room, which contains the coffee house, is decorated with the delicious odor. On the left wall as you enter there is a painting of Voltaire, whose literary skill was matched only by his ability to drink. On the right wall is a portrait of William Shakespeare, who is also supposed to have been a great coffee drinker. The walls themselves are covered with vivid green and gold wallpaper containing an intricate Brazilian bamboo plant design. There are 30 small oak tables with chairs to match, and each table supports a rack containing writing paper. Behind the bar, which is in the center of the room, the proprietor acts as cashier and sells Brazilian coffee, which he grinds, while you wait, in a special sort of coffee grinder.

Proprietor Is Not a Roosevelt.

The proprietor, of course, is not a Roosevelt. If you patronize the Brazilian Coffee House in the hope of shaking hands with a member of the colonial family, you are doomed to disappointment. Mrs. Ethel Roosevelt, who is said to have planned the decorations, but so far as is known, has never been seen in the place since it was opened. The public, Mr. Salazar, who has charge of the enterprise and who also owns an interest in it, is a Brazilian, born in Sao Paulo, the greatest coffee growing district in the world, and hence is a coffee authority. He believes what Americans have sometimes suspected themselves of, namely, that they do not know how to make coffee.

"The charm of coffee," says Mr. Salazar, "is in its aroma, or essential oil, which is fully developed only by thorough roasting. The longer coffee is roasted the less caffeine and tannic acid it contains. Dark coffee is not necessarily strong coffee, but it has stronger aroma. To drink light-roasted coffee is like eating a plate of beans not suitably cooked. Now to boil coffee, percolate coffee or to let it stand longer than 30 minutes is to make tannic acid soup instead of coffee. It is coffee so treated which causes indigestion."

"Milk and cream also have an injurious effect upon coffee. They react upon the tannic acid and thus cause indigestion. Voltaire was able to drink 50 cups of coffee a day only because he drank black coffee. I serve milk with my coffee for those who want it, because I believe in coffee propaganda establishment, but a coffee house, where each person does as he pleases. I only advise."

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOULTON

Her cheek is like the blushing rose:
Her starlike eyes are fair to see:
Her swanlike neck and Grecian nose
Have surely made it all so cute,
She has two white like ears, so cute,
And hair that's like a golden sheaf.
When I hear her, I'm stricken dumb,
Her beauty's quite beyond belief.

She never seems to move an eye
Or make one coquettish sign
When other men are passing by,
And so I guess that she's all mine.
She always wears the same glad smile
When'er I gaze upon her face.
She's of the kind that's well worth while,
I simply marvel at her grace.

To warm up to that girl,
Is the way I've often felt,
And I'd be a churl,
Am sure that she would melt
At last, if you please,
It is won as of old before,
A hopeless case, for she's
In a dry goods store.

W. V. always been deeply interested in accounts of fifth avenue weddings, and have devoured every word that Dolly Madison, Cholly Knickerbocker, and Spenser have had to say about them, but there was a wedding in Indianapolis, the other day that, according to the following account, snipped from the "News" of that city, has every other wedding we ever heard of backed off the boards and hunting for a bath.

The bride and groom presented a regal spectacle, never equaled since the proud Cleopatra sailed down the Nile, in her gilded pageant to meet Mark Antony while all the world stood aghast at the unheard-of triumph. To describe the bride's costume beggars the English language, and imagination fails faint and feeble before the Herculean task. She was gorgeously arrayed in a calico house dress, and a pair of lace curtains floated like a dream about her figure.

In referring to a musical show inadvertently as "musical show we notice one of our esteemed contemporaries was more or less right.

We are informed that two recent candidates on the same ticket in North Hempstead were Tom O'Connell and Jerry Stapleton. It seems as though Tom and Jerry will never get out of style.

Dr. Berthold A. Buer tells us that one of the first disciples of Lao Tze, the famous old Chinese philosopher, was: "He who knows how to plant shall not have his plant uprooted," and can't help thinking that would be a great slogan for some enterprising undertaker.

Berlin has just inaugurated lightless parlors. It seems that they have begun to feel the effects of the war over there, too.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information, may write to the Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. How many postoffices are there in the United States? P. F. E. The postoffice department says there are about 53,084 postoffices in this country.

Q. Will you tell me something of the tower of Babel, described in Longfellow's poem, "The Belfry Tower of Bruges"? P. The Belfry tower of Bruges, Belgium, is 350 feet high. It was built in the days of the first Count of Flanders in the thirteenth century. It was burned in 1280 and rebuilt. The belfry contains 48 bells, which form one of the best chimes in Europe.

Q. How many Pennsylvania Dutch come from? P. M. G. A. These early settlers in parts of Pennsylvania came chiefly from the (German) Palatinate, Württemberg, Saxony and Silesia, and a few from Switzerland and Alsace. The immigration to this country was due to religious persecution and to conditions and the intolerable social system which prevailed in Germany at that time.

Q. Who was the first secretary of the navy? P. E. T. C. A. Benjamin Stoddard, who served from 1798 to 1801, was the first navy secretary. The bill creating the post was passed by congress in 1795. Previous to that, naval affairs were administered by the war department.

Q. What is the assessed valuation of property in the state of New York, and what state has the highest property valuation per capita? P. G. I. F. E. The last census report, taken in 1915, placed the assessed valuation of property in New York at $13,160,887,350, or $1,000 per capita. South Dakota has the highest per capita property valuation of any state, it being $1,320.80.

Q. How many great races into which the people of the world are divided, which is the largest? P. V. S. The Mongolian race ranks first, numbering 655,000,000 souls. The Caucasian is a close second with 645,000,000 souls. The other four races are in the following order: 1,000,000,000; 81,000,000; Malayans, 52,000,000; and Indian, 23,000,000.

Q. What country has the largest army? P. D. H. E. The United States has the largest army, numbering 1,000,000 men.

Q. Brazil's president is paid $100,000 a year, and is the highest salaried executive in South America. Uruguay pays its president $36,000, while Argentina, a larger and wealthier country, gives its president a salary of only $1,000.

Q. How many stars are visible? P. V. V. According to the best astronomers the number of stars that can be seen by the naked eye is only about 7,000. The number visible through the telescope has been variously estimated at being between 70,000,000 and 100,000,000.

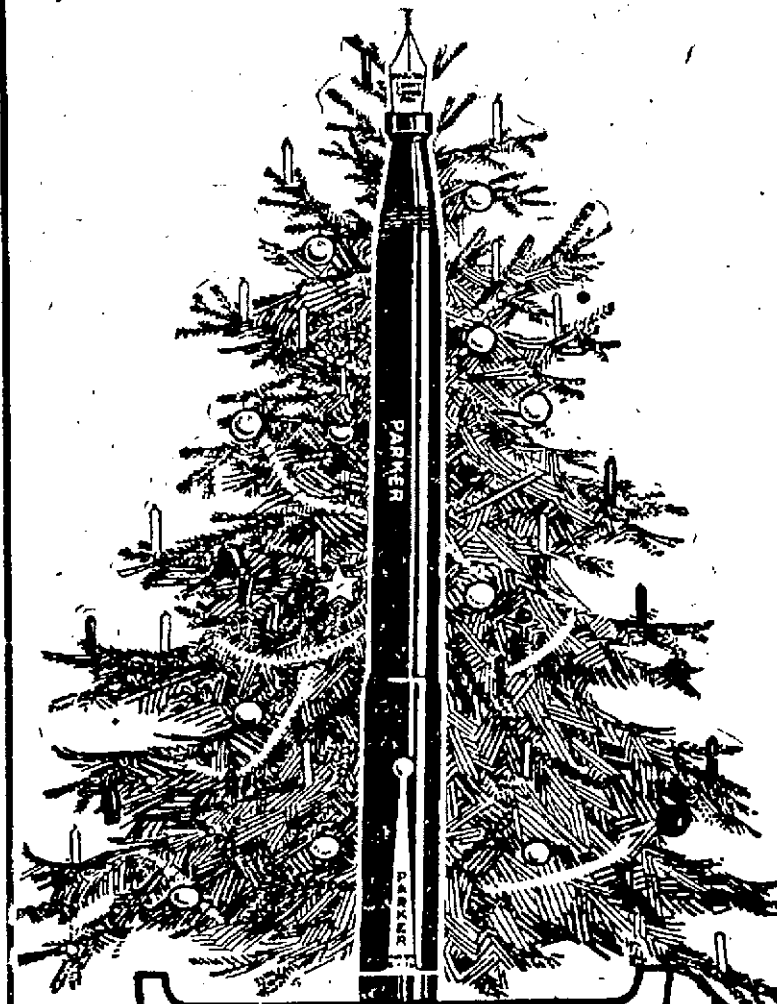

Q. Has the percentage of illiterates in the United States increased since the beginning of the present century? A. H. C. A. In 1900, 10 and seven-tenths of the population of the United States were illiterate.

Americans will turn it into a coffee house again, and with Brazilian coffee help to make some more great American men.

States could not read nor write. Ten years later this percentage was cut down to seven and seven-tenths. It is expected that the 1920 census of illiterates will show another reduction.

The Greatest Service to the Greatest Number

THUS, in seven words, is epitomized the ideals of service animating the seven men who direct the activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Maximum service is the only foundation upon which Big Business may rest securely.

It is this ideal which has impelled the Company to ceaseless effort in multiplying the number of products produced from crude petroleum, each to fulfill a definite, useful service—not to the few, but to humanity.

Only private initiative and enterprise, willing to hazard time, money, ingenuity, and effort to gain a promising but uncertain benefit, could have developed the many products manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for the service of the people.

In the conduct of its business, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always has recognized the four fundamental interests in all industry—capital, labor, management, and the public.

Because of this, and because it has striven to prepare every product as nearly perfect as ingenuity, integrity and earnest effort can make it, this Company has been able to approximate its ideal of the greatest service to the greatest number.

Library Work Extended As Result of Army Reading

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, (By Mail).—Library work among the American soldiers has caused at least two new countries, Poland and Czechoslovakia, to ask American aid in establishing and reorganizing their libraries.

Poland recently sent a deputation to Paris to obtain information and a plant of work from Bureau E. Stevenson, the Russian representative of the American Library association, which handled the American army library work.

Czechoslovakia's request came to Mr. Stevenson in a letter from Dr. Alice Masaryk, sister of President Masaryk. She assured him the government would support the work and asked him to undertake reorganization of her country's libraries and especially to establish children's departments.

Production of Food Has Decreased Alarmingly

(By Associated Press.)

Berlin, (By Mail).—Production of food in Germany has decreased to such an extent as to alarm the national commission of German agriculture which demands that government control of farm products be abolished except in the case of wheat. The commission declares that Germany will suffer an "unlimited collapse" unless the problem is attacked with open eyes.

The commission demands that control of meat, sugar and barley be abolished and a premium be offered for production of potatoes.

Resume of Moving Picture Programs of Last Week

(By MRS. ARBIE HELMS)

A reception to the mine sweepers returning from service in the North Sea was staged in New York city recently and duly filmed for the movies. It was shown last week as a news feature. Also a parade of Jews was shown, which had been formed to protest against the massacre of their countrymen abroad.

The Sunday picture at the Majestic was a college story, George Walsh in "The Winning Stroke." Walsh is a trained athlete. He did some excellent stunts in this picture beside giving a wholesome exciting play of the team saved the honors of the day. He had been dismissed because he broke training to go to the rescue of his sweetheart and also from a frame up letter found in his belongings. Of course at the last minute he was exonerated and the race was won.

Some unique pictures of vaudeville acts were shown as an opening number.

At the Beverly, Olive Thomas in "The Spite Bride," made a pleasing entertainment for Sunday. A wealthy young man jilted by his fiancée, decides to marry before the news is published to his friends and seeks a bride in the theater. Olive is a country girl who accepts the role, to help out a friend, but the latter sticks to her and insists on large amounts, behaving scandalously. So her quondam husband thinks she is as much a leech as her friend and divorces her. Afterward he misses her and later is glad to find her as a secretary to his mother.

A romantic story of adventure was shown at the Apollo the first part of the week, in "The Isle of Conquest." With Norma Talmadge as a maiden cast away on a desert island. Evening gowns and jungle styles are equally becoming to Norma, but it is hard luck for her on the island, for her man companion who served as stoker on the boat later women, and she lures men. The atmosphere is frigid until the male warms up and recognizes her presence.

But she has been married by a money loving mother and she momentarily expects her husband to come on the scene, but happily when he appears a weak heart carries him off, and leaves a chance of happiness for the stranded couple. Wyndham Standing is the stoker lover, who is gentilly itself even in humble garb. Norma's little sister, Natalie, is in the cast and does some clever work.

Superior.—City attorneys will take no part in the controversy between Mayor Fred Baxter and Chief of Police Vincent McKinnon, according to T. L. McIntosh, assistant corporation counsel. The mayor recently filed 22 charges against Chief McKinnon and a hearing will be held before the police and fire commission.

Shaboygan.—Capt. Ernest Gonzenbach, Pine Lodge, this county, is in receipt of a letter from Senator

Because of the holiday season, all games of the city league have been postponed for this week. After New Year's several double headers will be played to catch up with the schedule.

Ladysmith.—T. Earlbean, a farmer of Tony, claims that he has made more money in three years as a farmer than he did in fourteen years as a mill hand. He formerly worked in one of Ladysmith's mills, and while he always earned good wages, he found himself at the end of each year very little ahead. He bought a farm of 30 acres. He went in debt for the greater part of the $5,500. A few months ago he refused $10,000 for his farm. The past season he netted $2,000 in addition to much of living for the family.

Superior.—John Gulland has come to the conclusion that it does not pay to kill cockroaches with gasolene in the night-time. While applying the inflammable liquid to cracks in the floor of the pantry of his home to kill the bugs, he tried to see what the results of his efforts were with the aid of a lighted match, causing an explosion.

Don Moises Oliva, chief of staff of the army of Ecuador, South America, who inquires regarding the prices of Sheboygan Holstein cattle, stating that he wants to import a number of good specimens into his country. ...The... Devil's Own

A Romance of the Backward War
BY RANDALL WARISH
Author of "Contraband," "Satan of the Irish Brigade," "When Willardness Was King," etc.
Copyrighted A. C. McClure & Co.

That was all the time I gave him. With every pound of strength, with every ounce of dislike, I drove a cleaver flat into that surprised face, and the fellow went down as though smitten by an ax. Even as he reeled, Ralo leaped on him, raising, falling to, and striking me with one knee in the stomach, and drove an elbow straight into my face. The next instant was locked together so closely that I became impossible to move. He was a powerful fellow, a youth and agility warring force battle against brutal strength. I think I was his match, yet this I never knew—for all my thought centers in an effort to keep his hands from reaching any weapon. Whatever happened to me, there must be no alarm, no sudden movement, no guard. This affair must be fought out with bare knuckles and scolding slaps—fought in silence to the end. I held him in a bear grip, but his overmastering strength bore me backward, my body bending beneath the strain until every muscle in my back was aching. I should have hurled him over the hip, but at that second Gaskins struck me, and I went tumbling down, with the scoundrel falling flat on top of me, his pudgy fingers still clamping fiercely at my throat. It seemed as though consciousness left my brain, crushed into death by these gripping hands, for I heard the ex-publisher utter a yelp, which ended in a moan, as a blow struck him; then Ralo was jerked off me, and I sobbingly caught my breath, and my throat free. Into my dazed mind there echoed the sound of a voice.

SUPERIOR MAN HAS GAINED 24 POUNDS

Eats Anything, Sleeps Like A Log and Is Feeling Fine Since Taking Tanlac.

"I have gained twenty-four pounds in weight since I began taking Tanlac and feel as strong as I ever did in my life," said E. E. Glen, who works for the Globe Elevator Company and lives at 322 Towner Avenue, Superior, Wis., recently, continuing he said.

"Last fall I began to lose my appetite and what little I did manage to force down didn't seem to do me any good. I was in a badly run-down condition and very nervous. I lost fourteen pounds in weight and just kept on going down. I felt tired and worn out all the time and it was all I could do to drag myself around."

"I started taking Tanlac about the last of February, and in a few days I felt almost at once, I felt stronger and my nerves began to get in good shape. I continued taking it until I had taken six bottles and that was all I needed, for I felt as well as I ever had in my life. I have a fine appetite now and can eat and sleep like a log and my nerves are in perfect condition and I can do my work without even getting tired. I give Tanlac all the credit for my improvement and will always be glad to say a good word for it."

Tanlac is sold in Janesville by McCue & Buss, and the leading drug stores in every town.

WHEN A MAN'S MARRIED

THE WISHING PLANE

Bright and early the next morning Jack and Jane and Ladydear and Captain Brave set out to see Athens. They walked through the main business streets, visiting the stores and shops and then the historical parts of the city—the parts that were built centuries ago. First of all they walked up the Acropolis. This is a great hill of stone. On its level top there is a level of the old Greek temple, broken statues, giant pillars that have stood up for centuries and other bits of the old Greeks' handiwork. Some of these pillars held up the roof of the Parthenon. This was a wonderful temple built to Athens, goddess of the dawn. The Greeks built a statue of the goddess, too. It was as high as an ordinary house and was made of gold and ivory. Jack and Jane saw many folk in speeding the noted ruins. Captain Brave explained that many of the people the children saw probably were students who had come from all parts of the world to study these structures and learn more of the historical buildings.

Dinner Stories

Teddy hated to wash his face more than once a day. Just as he was about to use the hose to sprinkle the flowers, Father had to remind him about her. They strapped her into the saddle.

"The h— they did."

"It has been a hellish affair all the way through, and the only way in which I can serve her, if this is so, is by getting her away—so far away as possible, and where this devil can never find her again. What bothers me right now is your case."

"Mine? Lord, what's the matter with me?"

"Considerable, I should say. You can't be left here alone to face the result of this night's work. It Gaskins is dead from the blow you struck him these two fellows will swear your life away just for revenge. Even if you told the whole story, what chance would you have? That would only expose us, and still fail to clear you. It would merely be your word against theirs—you would have no witnesses, unless we were caught."

"I reckon that's true; I wasn't thinkin' 'bout it."

"Then there is only the one road to take, Tim," I insisted. "We've got to strike the trail together."

"What?"

MEXICAN WOMEN JOIN FEMINIST RANKS

(By Associated Press.)
Mexico City, (By Mail).—Mexican women are preparing to take a large part in the affairs of the Mexican republic. They intend first to eliminate social and industrial evils and later to make a fight for political equality. This is the program of the Mexican Feminist council, a national organization with headquarters in Mexico City. The council does not believe that the mass of Mexican women are at present prepared for complete suffrage, but the council hopes eventually to make the vital political force. The present Mexican government looks with favor upon their efforts, according to Senorita Elena Torres, general secretary of the council. Heads of the government, she said, advocate "complete emancipation of Mexican women."
Senorita Torres predicts that Mexican women will create a new era of amicable relations and a more complete understanding between Mexico and the United States. Later, she said, the Feminist Council intends to propose the formation of a Latin-American union to bring about a closer friendship, culturally, industrially and politically between Mexico and the countries of South and Central America.

JOHNSON PICKED AS TENNIS CHAMPION

William M. Johnston of San Francisco heads the list of ranking players as determined by the ranking committee of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association. It is the second time Johnston has achieved this honor, the other being in 1912. In their order the others of the "first ten" are William T. Tilden, 24, Philadelphia; Ichika Kumagae, New York; R. Lindley Murray, Niagara Falls; Wallace F. Johnston, Philadelphia; Richard N. Williams, 24, Boston; Roland Roberts, San Francisco; Charles S. Garland, Pittsburgh; Walter T. Hayes, Chicago; Watson M. Washburn, New York. To reach these decisions the committee considered the results of more than 5,000 players indicating remarkable revival of tournament competition throughout the country. A higher standard of play is shown due in part to the return of men who were in the service, and to the development of many promising youngsters. Only the results of sanctioned tournaments are considered and the committee is instructed to rank solely on performances and not upon its opinion of players' ability.

CARDS CLOSE WITH RED CROWNS JAN. 1; BIG SPORTS EVENT

(By Frank Sinclair)

The biggest winter sports event in years is to be held in this city on Jan. 1. The Red Crowns (formerly the Whiting Owls) of Whiting, Ind., on the basketball court of the armory here. Final arrangements were made for the contest this morning. For two years the managers of the Cardinals have been trying to book a game with this team. At first previously arranged schedules, which could not be changed, intervened. Then when this difficulty was overcome, neither team could come to any agreement as to a place to play nor a division of the gate receipts. Thus after much wrangling about details, writing back and forth and even visits between the managers of each team, and arguing, the game has been brought about.

Backed by the Standard Oil company, the Red Crowns are considered to be the fastest aggregation of basketball players west of Buffalo. They have not been beaten this year, so that a contest between them and the Cardinals will mean much in the division which has the better privilege to claim the championship of the middle west, a title which the Janesville team has every right to hold.

Aggregation of Stars

The Red Crowns will bring a team here composed of leaders on the basketball court. Every one of the men has played for many seasons until he has become a veteran. It is an aggregation of stars that is going to make the game an actual play. The name of Des Jardins should be enough to attract crowds from all over this vicinity. For two years a member of Camp's All-American football team, he has won national fame in the athletic world. He has played at the University of Chicago and in the game here he will play center.

Freddy Discolli, who made the All-American football team two years ago, will also be seen in the game. Football and basketball fans all over the middle west will flock to honor him as a top-liner in athletics. On New Year's he will be seen at the guard position. Other players are: Swede Johnson, forward of the I. A. C.; and Great Lakes; Gus Griest, forward, I. A. C.; A. Marquardt, all-conference and North-western; Bill Cramer, forward, I. A. C.; Bill Weiss, forward and guard, Whiting Owls; George Halls, guard, Great Lakes and Illinois; and Moose Cochran, guard, I. A. C. and Whiting Owls.

Puncturing for Game

Both teams are practicing sufficiently for the contest. Neither is looking upon the match other than that it will mean another scalp to the Red Crowns string, or a chance for the Cardinals to become nationally known to the claimants of the championship title of the middle west. The cards are putting in hard hours on the local floor. Practice will be held right up to the last minute. The Cardinals stipulate as one of the parts to the contract that they be permitted to warm up on the local floor for two hours before the game with no one in the room beside themselves.

Because of the prominence of the players and the things at stake, the admission for this game has been raised to 31 with all seats reserved. No general admissions will be sold until just before the game, and they will be very few. Tickets will be put on sale Wednesday, the places where they can be procured to be announced.

The Cardinals will go into the game with practically the same lineup as they have been using all season, with one exception. That will be Bill Chandler, three years on Wisconsin's team and last year captain of Great Lakes.

The Red Crowns will arrive in the city on the night of December 31. They will bring a crowd of about 100 players with them. Every available seat is expected to be sold.

RED SOX READY TO RELEASE BABE RUTH

Boston, Mass., Dec. 22.—Boston baseball fans whose ears are closest to the ground are prepared to hear any week that Babe Ruth, champion hitter of home runs, has been sold to another club. It is no secret that the Red Sox management is prepared for a lot of trouble with Ruth on the matter of salary again this spring, despite the fact that last spring's controversy with the player was ended by his signing a three-year contract at $30,000 a year. Popular as "Babe" is with his mates, it is undisputed that he tried the patience of the management last season and that it will not be repeated.

As You Were!

—BY—
BUCK
Of the STARS AND STRIPES A. E. F.

TE SALUTAMUS

When shrapnel propelled by the foe Came rattling out of the sky, I stuck to my iron chapeau, For I was unwilling to die.

But then, when the H. C. of L. Sent prices of clothing so high, I said, "Ah, it would have been well If I had been able to die."

But now over one thing I gloat, Though snowflakes in millions may fly, I'm thankful to you, army coat, That I'm able and willing to dye.

Ex-Sergt. SOL says that the men that used to talk the most about the time when they could wear silk socks again are the most envious of him when he puts on the woolen ones he salvaged.

AND THEY PROBABLY HAD HIM PREPARING ROADS

When the "Work or Fight" order came out it had some remarkable effects. The official report of one Local Board included the case of one man who professed it was contrary to his religion to work. He stuck by his religion and finally his father, who had to support him came to the board and asked them what they could do. This is what the record says: "We told him that we would let him go. So the next day he served a notice on the boy, 'You will have to either work or fight.' He looked at us quite calmly and said: 'D— the work. I'll fight.'—so we inducted him."

FROM OUR PARIS CORRESPONDENT

Paris, France.—Seven thousand quarts of old Kentucky whiskey brought to France by the U. S. Medical Corps and apparently overlooked during the celebration of armistice day have been sold to dealers here at 50 francs a case, and the demobilization camp was left a drink.

(P. S. This is not an advertisement for any steamship company and we understand that no further enlistments are open in the Grave's Registration Service for duty in France.)

HAVE YOU HEARD THIS ONE?

Two negro soldiers had just received their discharges and final pay. One of them was looking contemptuously at the paper that went and so precious until he got it, and the demobilization camp was left behind. He said, "His companion jumped up and rescued the discharge. 'Man!' he cried, 'don't you spoil dat, dat's all you got to show you is civilized.'"

YANKS

During the war a great number of verses written by men in the A. E. F. were printed in the Stars & Stripes and some selections were gathered into book form. This collection has now appeared in America under the name of YANKS and is being sold for the benefit of the French war orphans who were the muscots of the A. E. F. One of the verses follows:

THE CORPORAL'S CHEVRONS

Oh, the General with shiny stars, leading a parade, The Colonel and the Adjutant's a-sportin' of their braid, The Major and the Skipper—none of 'em look so daze As a newly minted corporal comin' down the line.

Oh, the Bishop in his mitre, pacin' up the aisle, The Governor, frock-coated with a vote-for-women smile, The Congressman, the Mayor, aren't in it I opine, To the newly minted corporal comin' down the line.

Pesek Meets Savage

At Chicago Dec. 29

Chicago, Dec. 22.—John Pesek, the Sheldon, Neb. farmer, who astonished the wrestling world by decisively defeating Wladek Zbyszko in a two-fall match, will make his bow to Chicago westsiders at the Coliseum a week from tomorrow night when he meets Steve Savage, a promising candidate for the world's heavyweight championship, in a five-fall contest, best two out of three falls.

Samson and Gazette Girls Will Bowl Tonight

With a refurbished set of alleys at the West Side, Samson Tractor's winning girls' bowling team will meet the girls of the Gazette tonight. Hank Robbins worked until the early hours of Sunday morning getting the alleys in shape—he said for the Christmas trade.

The Samson girls have not yet been defeated. The match starts at 7:30.

Williams Asks Salary Increase at Minnesota

Minneapolis, Dec. 22.—Campus rumors at the University of Minnesota, Saturday reported a deadlock between Dr. H. L. Williams, Gopher football coach for twenty years, and the university board in charge of athletics over the salary question. It was even hinted in some quarters that Dr. Williams might sever his connection with the university unless the salary dispute was adjusted in his favor.

Postpone Tremaine Match

Cleveland, O., Dec. 22.—The tenuous boxing contest between Jimmie Wilde of England, world's flyweight champion, and Carl Tremaine of Cleveland, tentatively scheduled for New Year's Day at Canton, O., has been indefinitely postponed. Matt Hinkel, local promoter who matched the boys, announced tonight.

WILDE MAY TAKE ON MASON AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 22.—Two important boxing matches may be staged in the Twin Cities shortly after the first of the year. It is probable that Tommy Gibbons, younger brother of Mike, will meet Middleweight Champion Mike O'Dowd, a change of camps from the Gibbons and O'Dowd camps. O'Dowd defeated Mike several weeks ago. The other fight probably will bring together Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Jimmie Wilde, the Welsh flyweight.

BRITON ARRIVES TO SIGN UP DEMPSEY

New York, Dec. 22.—George McDonald, the famous English sportsman, is in town. The last time George was here he guided the pugilistic desires of Lord Wills, then English lightweight champion, whose bout with Knockout Brown auspiciously opened boxing on the now defunct Praeger law in this state. McDonald and it is understood, C. B. Cochran, promoter of the recent Carpenter-Beckett bout in London, is now on his way here, are going to try to sign up Dempsey for a match abroad with the European champion.

FARM BOARD NAMED TO RAISE $10,000 FOR SALES PAVILION

Organization of a Rock County Farm Board, to be incorporated in the Rock County Sales Pavilion, with a minimum capital of $10,000, was started Saturday afternoon at a meeting of the board of directors at the county house. It will be composed of the president and secretary of each of the county organizations, the county agent, and three members at large.

Selection of a site for the pavilion, which would be used to increase the sales of Rock County cattle, was not made. The majority, however, favored the fair grounds here.

Building of a pavilion was strongly favored by the Chamber of Commerce through George F. Wilson, manager. He promised the cooperation of every merchant in the city. Speaking for the bankers of Janesville, Frank H. Jackson, president of the Rock County National bank, also expressed approval. The fair grounds association was represented by J. P. Clark and E. H. Hanson, who told the board that the association would cooperate in every way and favored erection of the structure on land belonging to the association.

The organization of the farm board is the first step taken in the county toward the formation of a Rock County farm bureau, which will be started at once by interesting all farmers in the county. As soon as the bureau is formed, the board will cease to function. It will eventually be affiliated with the American Farm Bureau federation.

Among plans for the new board, campaign with the object of having a pure bred sire on every farm in Rock County to better the grade of stock.

When organization is complete, the farm bureau board will take over the assets and liabilities of the Rock County Live Stock Breeders' association if agreeable to the latter. Association's Back Project.

Prior to the sales pavilion meeting, the Rock County Holstein Breeders' association met at city hall and decided to put on a membership drive. They also favored the sales pavilion movement and the plan to place a pure bred bull on each farm. Towards the latter means, a census of all bulls in the county will be taken with the aid of the rural schools. County School Superintendent O. D. Antisdel offered the help of the school children for this purpose.

The Rock County Duroc Breeders' association also met at the city hall Saturday. Besides favoring the sales pavilion, they decided to hold a pure bred sow sale at the fair grounds February 19. A committee was appointed to have charge of the sale.

Christmas Tree Price Was $2 Each; Now 6 for 35c

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Dec. 22.—The law of supply and demand today forced down the price of Christmas trees from $3 each to 6 for 35 cents. Many dealers are even giving them away to save demurrage charges on freight cars, explaining that the excessive quantity on hand is due to the army of speculators attracted to the tree field by the large returns netted last year.
